

Web Developer, Programmer (Wilmington, NC)

We're seeking a web developer to work in-house on web design, site integration, and collaboration with a creative marketing team for an established company of over 900 employees.

Our company consists of dedicated sales, support, and manufacturing positions around the US, primarily in the southeast. The marketing team serves the greater needs of the organization in creative, unique ways and the developer is a key part of this process in terms of strategy, planning, and implementation..

This position is ideal for fast learners interested in working for a well-established company with opportunities for creativity and gaining new skills.

What we're looking for:

- Proficient with HTML, CSS, and modern front-end frameworks (i.e Bootstrap and Foundation).
- Knowledge of Git version control.
- Work with existing database infrastructure in conjunction with IT Department.
- Experience with Microsoft SQL Server as well as MySQL & PostgreSQL.

Existing Applications, Familiarity with These a Plus:

- Active Directory / LDAP
- Java
- C#/.NET Framework
- Ruby on Rails

Responsibilities:

- Maintain, update, and build upon existing applications.
- Help in the planning process of new projects.
- Provide insights as to how technology can help solve problems or offer opportunities.
- Build and launch new sites and programs.
- Provide long-term planning and vision for new programs.
- Collaborate as a direct member of a team and also communicate effectively with our IT Department.

Traits:

- Ability to collaborate with a creative team, offering insights and ideas about process, planning, opportunities, and the successful implementation of a planned project.
- Comfortable with balancing projects of creative freedom with projects that require meeting demands from upper management (i.e. can operate with creative freedom and can also take direct orders from management).
- A quick learner when it comes to new ideas or technology.

Position & Benefits:

- Full time, in-house position in Wilmington, North Carolina
- 8 am to 5 pm work schedule
- Privately owned company established 70 years ago with significant growth year-after-year
- Health, dental, vision, short and long term disability plans

Please apply with a resume and cover letter, including details about projects that you've built. We look forward to hearing from you.

Contact:

Megan Criss
Atlantic Packaging
meganc@atlanticpkg.com
<http://www.atlanticpkg.com>